Frial of Arnold Lichtner Proved I

(By Associated Press.) LONDON, May 10.—A despatch to The Telegraph from Vienna says that a Viennese card-sharper, Arnold Lichtner, has been sentenced to five years' penal servitude after a sensational trial in which it was revealed that he was a missing link in a circle of gamblers and usurers whose methods were exposed at the recent great gambling trial in Hanover. One of the gang escaped to America, another committed suicide and Lichtner escaped to Switzerland before the Hanover trial began.

Lichtner's trial in Vienna abounded in extraordinary sketches of life in German military circles and gambling reit clear that gambling had so eaten into the German army that it would take something more than royal decrees to

May Prove Fatal to Farrell.

Possible Outcome of an Early Morning Park Row Barroom Row.

Reported Life-Long Friends but Quarrelled Over a Watch.

John Farrell, a saloon-keeper, thirty-two years old, of 60 Pearl street, was possibly fatally shot in his saloon, 166 by Patrick Masterson, fifty years old, cently a keeper in the Tombs prison, and shortly after he was shot, and the surgeons at the Chambers Street Hospital ive it as their opinion that he will die. Masterson does not deny that he shot Farrell, but claims that he fired in self-defense. He is contradicted by two witsesses who saw the shooting Farrell and Masterson had known each other for a long time, and were considered intimate friends by the people who frequented the saloon, which is conducted under the name of Harren & Farrell. Masterson was a nightly visi-tor to the saloon. Masterson wanted a watch which Far-ned, and last night the saloon-sold it to him for $15, Masterson

Farrell and Masterson were drinking together until about 1.30 this morning, when Masterson showed a wad of money.

"You had better give me the rest of the money for the watch," said Farrell. Masterson refused to do so, when somebody, he says, and he thinks it was Farrell, snatched a $20 bill from his hands. Masterson demanded of Farrell that the money be returned to him. Farrell denied that he had taken the money, and he and Masterson quarrelled and grappled.

Masterson was knocked down. The witnesses say he drew a pistol and fired point blank at Farrell, who exclaimed: "I'm shot!" and sank to the floor of the saloon, afterwards tottering to his feet. Masterson's version is that after he was knocked down Farrell and several others who were in the saloon jumped on him and beat him frightfully, and, fearing for his life, he drew the pistol and fired.

Policeman Dennis McCrohaw, of the Elizabeth street station, was on post at Baxter and Franklin street, when a young man ran up to him and told him that a amn had been shot in Harren & Farrell's saloon. The policeman ran to the place, and found Farrell, who was very weak and bleeding from a wound in his abdomen, about to leave the saloon.

Farrell told the policeman he wanted very weak and bleeding from a wound in his abdomen, about to leave the saloon.

Farrell told the policeman he wanted to get to his home as quickly as possible as he had been shot by Masterson and was badly hurt. He protested against going back into the saloon, where the policeman took him after turning in a cail to the Chambers Street Hospital for a ambulance.

Masterson was still in the saloon and was placed under arrest. Frank Harren, who is part owner of the saloon, and Robert Sullivan, of 173 Park Row, who were also in the saloon, and they had witnessed the shooting, and that nobody had interfered in the scuffle between Farrell and Masterson. Farrell, they said, had knocked Masterson down, and then the latter had shot the saloon-keeper.

When the ambulance surgeon arrived he found that the builet, a large one from a 38-calibre revoiver, had entered Farrell's abdomen, and said that the man's condition was very serious.

The surgeon hurried his patient to the hospital, where he was put under the influence of ether and placed upon the hospital, where he was put under the influence of ether and placed upon the poperating table. The sugeons worked over him until 5 o'colek this morning performing, supposedly, the operation of Japoratomy. The Superintendent of the hospital declared he did not konw the nature of the operation, and declined to summon one of the surgeons to tell an "Evening World" reporter about it.

there since 10 o'clock. The deputies, who were outnumbered, gave up after two attempts to oust the army and steamed back to Yakima, two miles from the scene of the scuffle, and side-tracked.

The deputies from Coppenish responded to Chidester's demands for reinforcements and twenty-five more went from Eliensburg. At 7 o'clock last evening the train backed to the bridge over the Yakima River, a mile from the town. Half the population followed. The Coxeyites boarded the train to the number of 150. Chidester says one of them aftempted to set a brake. A deputy ordered him to stop. On his refusal the deputy pulled him away.

The Coxeyites began clubbing the deputy, and then shooting commenced. The Coxeyites retreated, breaking a switch and pilling rocks on the track, but afterwards removing them. As soon as the fight was begun stones were thrown at the engineer and fireman in an attempt to dislodge them. The train backed into Selah station after the fight, where it now is. Surgeon Hill has gone from Yakima to attend the wounded. Adjt. Fitting, of Seattle, went to Yakima from Ellensburg this evening and demanded food and shelter for the army.
